Subject: Urgent Request for State and Federal Intervention to Address Systemic Rights Violations in Connecticut

Dear Senator Richard Blumenthal,

I am writing to you as the CEO and Director of ABI Resources, a Connecticut-based organization dedicated to assisting individuals with disabilities under the Federally Funded Medicaid ABI Waiver Program. This letter is both an expression of grave concern and an urgent plea for your intervention regarding ongoing systemic rights violations in Connecticut.

These violations, perpetrated by state authorities and insufficiently addressed by federal entities, are infringing upon the rights of the community we serve, including my rights as a disabled business owner. Our efforts to tackle these challenges are hampered by the complexity, costs, and timeframes required to navigate existing systems, compounded by a conspicuous lack of federal oversight in Connecticut's allocation and use of federal funds.

Enclosed is a comprehensive report detailing these violations, our efforts to address them, and the insufficient response from federal agencies to date. This situation contradicts the foundational principles of justice and equity and violates laws designed to protect the rights of disabled individuals.

We urgently request your thorough examination of this report and prompt, decisive action. The situation transcends mere mismanagement of federal funds by the state and indicates a deeper failure within our federal system to protect its most vulnerable citizens.

This pervasive pattern of neglect highlights systemic issues that demand immediate and focused attention. The very foundations of our society – justice, equity, and equitable treatment under the law – are at risk. The future of ABI Resources and the individuals we support, as well as the commitment of our federal system to its disabled citizens, rest in your capable hands.

The immediate issues originate from actions taken by the Connecticut government, but the overarching failure at the federal level has allowed these challenges to proliferate. Thus, the responsibility for our current situation is not solely with Connecticut but is fundamentally a federal issue.

This situation demands more than mere acknowledgment; it necessitates immediate and decisive federal action. The well-being of countless individuals with disabilities, reliant on services provided by organizations like ABI Resources, is in jeopardy.

In this urgent appeal, I highlight issues of paramount public interest, reflecting a troubling lack of transparency and accountability within Connecticut's administration of the Medicaid ABI Waiver Program. The enclosed report elucidates potential civil rights violations and instances of government overreach profoundly affecting the disabled community we serve. Our extensive documentation raises serious questions about potential corruption, ethical violations, and financial mismanagement within state-run programs.

The lack of decisive action in the face of these allegations may set a troubling legal precedent, undermining the foundation of judicial review and democratic oversight. It involves not only potential discrimination and inequality against individuals with disabilities but also raises significant public safety risks.

As a leader at the forefront of addressing these challenges, I have witnessed firsthand the detrimental effects of such systemic issues on our clients and their families. It's not merely a matter of policy failure; it's a matter of failing those who rely on us for support and protection. The responsibility to rectify these issues lies not only with the state of Connecticut but also at the federal level, where a more robust oversight mechanism is urgently needed.

In conclusion, the situation we are confronting is not an isolated incident but a manifestation of national concern. It demands more than passive acknowledgment; it requires proactive and decisive federal intervention. The well-being of countless individuals dependent on the integrity and efficacy of our federal and state systems hangs in the balance.

I beseech you to acknowledge the gravity of this situation and the federal government's role in its development. It is imperative that the United States assume responsibility for these systemic failures and implement tangible solutions.

I thank you for your consideration of this critical matter and await your prompt response. I am prepared to provide any additional information or assistance as required.

Best regards,
David Medeiros
